HeadsInventory plugin implementation Bill

Debate:

The SPEAKER: HeadsInventory Implementation Bill, to be considered, a bill to This bill aims to implement the HeadsInventory plugin to make it easier for citizens of Wolvhaven to obtain custom texture heads without having to ask an opped player for them. I invite the proposer of the bill to open the debate.

Mopsistudios: Thank you mr speaker. The plugins in this bill have already been implemented by the server owner. I move that we proceed to 2nd reading and vote, in order to not waste any further time.

MC_Dunc: Thank you Mr Speaker. According to one's knowledge, a custom head plugin has already been announced in the server. is there a significant use of this bill to be tabled in this parliament. may the honorable member who tabled the bill make a statement on this?

Mopsistudios: Thank you Mr Speaker. No, there is no real significant use y0urs_Tr1y: then why are we continuing? Fin.

The SPEAKER: It would be of convenience to me and everyone involved if we could get this session dismissed within the next 10 mins

MC_Dunc: Mr speaker. I move that we move on with the plan.

Anti-NSFW Messages Bill

Debate:

The SPEAKER: We move to the second motion of the day: Anti-NSFW Messages Bill. I invite the proposer of the bill to open the debate

Mopsistudios: Thank you Mr Speaker. Over the past few week there have been multiple incidents were nsfw content has been posted on Wolvhaven platforms. this is extremely inappropriate. This bill aims to punish people who post nsfw content on our platforms

MC_Dunc: Thank you Mr Speaker. I would like to ask the right honorable member his definition for nsfw: Are jokes messages allowed? or chat must be absolutely clear. The bill did not specify whether chat messages and so on are allowed or not. The definition of the content that is considered nsfw is not detailed in this community. There are a lot of instances where people even senior management may make jokes or messages. That are considered nsfw. Would the honorable member of CEN please elaborate on his context reference of nsfw?

Mopsistudios: The bill is very clear on the definition. Nsfw or not safw for work refers to anything which includes images of nudity, sexual imagery, heavy profanity, pornography or images of extreme violence. The definitions overlap but they are included to be more specific. The bill is also very clear on what it includes. Players who knowingly post messages that include nsfw content or a link to a site that includes nsfw content, shall be liable to 1 official warning. This applies to both discord and the server.

_ezzo: As a former moderator and a helper now, we already filter out messages and disallow NSFW messages. What would this bill add to the moderation procedure that already exists? Would this bill just make it legally clear in case of a dispute or appeal?

Mopsistudios: Thank you Mr Speaker. The wolvhaven statutes do not include anything about nsfw messages, thus meaning people cannot be punished for it. This bill will officially make it illegal.

The DEPUTY SPEAKER (SilverWolv) took the chair at 14 39.

y0urs_Tr1y: 2 points. 1. as i have made clear many times, the statutes are not completed. thus just because they are not yet written, does not imply it must thus be legal. You can and should prosecute these cases, even if not included in the statutes YET. That said, i have no problems with this bill seeking to formally include it, i assume under the general rules part of the statutes. 2. may i request the member who proposed the bill clarify what is meant by heavy profanity? WH has had a culture of allowing foul language. is it your intention to change this? or may i suggest that the profanity part be removed. i don't think anybody else has a problem with outlawing pornographic imagery.

Mopsistudios: As of right now, excess use of profanity right now is not allowed. Profanity meaning usage of swear words, thus making the clause in the proposed bill useless. I suggest the extreme profanity part be removed, as it is already covered.

MC_Dunc: Thank you mr speaker. I have a few points to make. First, this bill needs to be crafted more precisely by using words such as "heavy", it makes clauses very objective. If the honorable member is not aware, anything written into a legal statutes. subjective if i may correct myself. anything written into a legal statute, requires a definition to terms, such vague terms do not allow clear definition of how players will be penalised, and I would like to simply state the fact that. staff has final discretion to judge what's right and what's wrong.

Mopsistudios: Thank you Mr Speaker. many other parts of the wolvhaven statutes use vague terminology the definition provided makes it very clear, as for my dear friend's last point. staff would have the final say on weather prosecute the person or not, as for other laws.

y0urs_Tr1y: Again 2 points. 1st, I'm not sure if you are agreeing with me or not so do you want to remove the heavy profanity part of the bill? yes or no.

mopsistudios: Yes, as excessive profanity is already banned y0urs_Tr1y: is that so? But nvm, 2nd point. if the member would allow me to finish before answering "NSFW content" and then proceeds to define "content" as NSFW images. Would it not thus make more sense to simplify the bill to state NSFW images to begin with? In addition, this definition leaves a rather large gaping loophole. In which i can share erotic literature, which does not include imagery, I imagine the member intends for this to also be banned. Might i suggest you reword the bill accordingly. fin.

Mopsistudios: I move that section 1.a.i may be amended to replace "heavy profanity" with "erotic literature". Also I move that "pornographic videos" are also to be added to the definition. Since right now they are not specifically mentioned. Although may be included since a video is just a bunch of images.

MC_Dunc: Mr Speaker. i move that this bill should end so the honorable member can revise and make amendments to the bill. Tl;dr, stop parliament, let us sleep.

The DEPUTY SPEAKER: The immediate question is: if the house agrees to the amendments mopsistudios proposed, as many as opinion say aye, of contrary say no.

Question put to the House and agreed on. (Amendments made by mopsistudios)

Question put to the House and agreed on (Adjourning the house)
