Permanent Residency (Referendum) Bill

Debate:

The SPEAKER: First on the agenda PR (ref) bill. There are two amendments introduced by the member minebuilder1223, to be voted in later. does the bill proposer Mopsi wish to speak?

The PRIME MINISTER: No.

The SPEAKER: before you begin. are you intending to explain the amendments?

Minebuilder1223: Yes.

The SPEAKER: oh alright. in that case. 10 minutes for you

Minebuilder1223: No need alr but okay. Thank you mr speaker. I have tabled 2 amendments upon looking at previous hansards, asking for community consultation and reviewing with members of the executive. I am intent on having this bill passed today. There has been much deliberation. And i believe the amendments tabled today will be what this house has desired. The first amendments simply seeks to add a new option, this option extends PR rights to be equal to citizen rights except for participation in parliament or the right to vote at elections. The second amendment seeks to entirely reconfigure the format of the referendum to help solve the problem of mutual exclusivity and therefore give more diverse options for the public to choose. This is done by splitting it into 5 questions. each with 2 options, and provides the public with more choice on how they see fit to introduce the PR rank.

The SPEAKER: Exactly 5 minutes. Alright. Anyone wish to comment on the proposed amendments? Does the member kangaroo567 wish to speak?

Kangaroo567: no autojump sry

The SPEAKER: alright. then shall we vote on the amendments?

Motion is therefore negated.

The SPEAKER: The first amendment has been defeated. Up Next, the second amendment a progressive approach to the PR referendum. does anyone wish to speak on the 2nd amendment before voting?

The SPEAKER: No? alright then. Aye or nay to the second amendment.

Question put to the House and agreed on.

The SPEAKER: alright alright. second amendment (b) has passed. since the second amendment proposes drastic changes to the initial bill, the speaker recommends that. this PR(ref) bill be given another reading to allow others to process the changes accordingly before the final vote. does the proposer still wish to hold the final vote now? seeing as there is no response.

The PRIME MINISTER: Final vote now.

Minebuilder1223: Point of order. The default process is that the bill moves to a vote. It needs to be a motion and a vote to adjourn the bill.

Statute Amendment Bill

Debate:

The SPEAKER: Now we continue to the next bill: the Statute Amendment Bill by the member minebuilder1223.

Minebuilder1223: Thank you mr speaker. In response to silverwolv's comments in the last session. I have compiled a basic treatise on parliamentary practice that may be followed when we move to discord parliament. Therefore i believe all preparations have been made for the move. All that is required now, is a vote to approve this bill and henceforth abolish physical parliament. The ball is now in our court.

The SPEAKER: does anyone want to comment? No one?

Ohuehue: Thank you mr Speaker. My question to mibu is will it cause chaos in Discord if the physical parliament is gone.

Minebuilder1223: Thank you Mr Speaker. Special discord channels will be setup as per the treatise, and a close eye will be paid to these channels. The change will also mean that only MPs will be able to vote. that will be established through discord permissions with regard to reactions. I can see the member opposite bobbing. Sorry for the delay.

The SPEAKER: does the member mibu want an extension?

Minebuilder1223: All votes will be made in a permanent discord channel with all votes recorded. may i extend my time to 10 mins

The SPEAKER: is 5 minutes alright? Approved

Minebuilder1223: Of course, if we allowed all members to vote on discord, the votes would not be proportionate or representative and would be too unwieldy, therefore undermining the legitimacy of parliament. We have already held a trial of this format in discord and we didnt observe any chaos or problems. therefore we are confident this move won't cause "chaos"

Mirai50: Would conducting the parliament through discord come at the expense of losing a WH tradition of having physical parliament. It seems that it does so to some extent even though the opening ceremony will be held in this physical parliament. Maybe there can be a plugin to connect in server messages to discord that's activated only when parliament is on. I would appreciate if the bill proposer considers adding this to the bill. So that people have a choice between physically attending parliament to preserve tradition and have it through discord. This is a compromise.

PLankTheNoOb: Thank your Mr Speaker. I have a question directed to the proposer party of this bill. I have concerns that discord parliament was intended to make all wolvhaven citizens participate to it. With the enactment of letting only mps to vote you're automatically going against this principle. and I do believe that in this way there would be an oligarchy, not a democracy. you have to consider that unlike irl parliaments we have really but really lesser members in the chamber. would you let only 10 people decide on the future of the server?

The PRIME MINISTER: Cause there are 10 MPs?

PLankTheNoOb: And additionally, not all MPs will always be there to vote. I see this as an excuse to bring all the power in the hands of few people, please consider these factors before voting.

Ohuehue: Thank you Mr Speaker. I would like the house to correct me if I am wrong but the sole purpose of the Parliament is to lay everything on the table to discuss state matters by giving everyone a voice by leaving only a board of people to decide which is like the Senate. Then what is the point of our parliament. If the sole purpose of it is gone. I would like the house to consider my thought before voting.

The SPEAKER: this is expected to be contemptuous.

Minebuilder1223: May i ask. How many people are sitting in this chamber today? 13. There are 14 MPs in parliament. as in, 14 MPs that were elected to parliament last election. The attendance of parliament usually hovers around 10. And the entire problem that this change is trying to fix is lack of attendance and participation of parliament. specifically form the american and east asian demographic. As our server demographic diversifies, the legitimacy of this parliament deceases. I appreciate my honourable colleagues whimsical descriptions of the purpose of parliament. but in reality, it is simply a delegation of power from the unelected executive to a democratically elected legislature. Because if we weren't making these decisions, the admins would without any of our input. If we continue in this current parliamentary format, we risk losing parliament altogether. And discord parliament would allow many more MPs to vote anyway. Which would be more representative of the parties that most of the wolvhaven electorate choose.

Mirai50: I would like to touch on the idea that MPs would only be allowed to vote. A compromise would be to give MPs 2 votes and the rest of us including me 1 vote. it would ensure that those elected by the populace and hence fulfilling the purpose of elections well but at the same time citizens get to have a say too (Direct democracy). This is one possible solution which is a compromise.

PLankTheNoOB: may I ask an extend of the time on this bill? as this is really important

Question put to the House and agreed on.

The SPEAKER: we shall resume after a 2 minute toilet break. we shall now resume the 2nd half of the Statute Amendment Bill (2nd r).

PLankTheNoOB: Thank you Mr Speaker. first of all we're not all elected mps here today. And secondly, I find that honourable member mirai idea could be a possible way out to this. otherwise , we should just have a referendum on this , wherever we should only let mp to vote, or all people that follow the election. seeing the importance of this enactment, I do think that we should proceed really careful on this. additionally, I think that there would not be much opposition if only mps voted

Minebuilder1223: Thank you Mr Speaker. Can i draw attention to the fact that there are 214 verified members on the wolvhaven discord. if we allowed them to vote, we would be increasing the size of the parliamentary quorum by 20 times with most of these people hardly ever playing on the server anyway. and these people would be voting on incredibly important issues such as tax, citizen's right, constitutional issues. In parliament, this is not a problem, since it takes effort to be in attendance, effort which most people don't bother with. And the unelected citizens who do come are the ones who want to contribute and are somewhat more trustworthy. But making voting so incredibly accessible to people who may not have even heard of parliament before would most likely lead to chaos. And i understand that there are control measures such as the senate and the executive minebuilder1223: But if every decision gets shot down because we cannot trust the vote, then there is no point for the house of representatives anyway. We are left with 3 options at this juncture. extend to 10 mins pls

The SPEAKER: please come to your closing remarks asap...

The SPEAKER: Please finish quickly. Approved.

minebuilder1223: We are left with 3 options at this juncture. 1. Keep the status quo of entirely physical parliament. 2. Move to full discord parliament 3. Have a hybrid between physical and discord. We have already investigated option 3 extensively, and that was the option i full supported for a long while, but it became increasingly clear that this would not be feasible It would increase the workload on parliament secretaries. And we simply cannot find a good way of carrying this out. Therefore after looking extensively at this option with respect to both the executive and the government, we decided we simply have to rule this out. Therefore it is only between no change or full discord parliament. If we ramin with the status quo, the current attendance figures and the trend of parties in parliament suggest that this format of parliament is no longer sustainable. One of the major reasons this election was more competitive was entirely because of the prospect of discord parliament. If we move to discord parliament, we simply cannot let non-elected members vote. Otherwise parliament could not function properly

The SPEAKER: thank you. that was exactly 10 minutes. next, devin

DevinBrantley: ty mr speaker. i would like to speak now to continue on some other thoughts and idea presents already.i do agree with mibu that discord parliament is likely the only option but it would result in only mp being able to vote.i find this not to be a viable option as well, because of the voting system for parties. you only vote for the party, not the actual mp. I understand that each party has similar thoughts with each member but this is a problem that i feel should take consideration

Mirai50: I would like to thank honourable member minebuilder for his speech. I do agree that ideally, there should be a hybrid, but in reality it is not possible. On the positive side, having a parliament is still a unique cultural aspect of WH. It will change but this tradition won't be removed. So I do believe that given the situation that doesn't permit what's ideal, a discord parliament would be the best feasible option

PLaNKTheNoOB: Thank you mr speaker. I agree with honourable member minebuilder1223 that not many people take the bother to come here and sit but I do believe that attendance wouldn't change so much even if the sessions were held on discord. I do believe this basing on two factors. first of all not everyone is online always and secondly many of the 214 verified members won't take the bother to follow parli channel. I'm sure it will end in this way minebuilder1223: and you base this on what evidence?

PLaNKTheNoOB: this is a fact. see how many verified are on at the moment

The SPEAKER: please finish asap

PLaNKTheNoOB: if we take the second option, then we should change voting system and increase number of mps ohuehue: Thank you Mr Speaker. I will keep this short. I have 2 suggestions. 1. To have the parliament more spreaded out and have more sessions on Discord. For this, the parliament would be held every one month instead of every 2 weeks. people can also consolidate their thoughts and consideration and discuss so as to shorten the time wasted here 2. To widen the group of people who can vote. I understand that MP are able to vote. MPs are the only ones that can vote if that becomes a reality but what if we allow more active players who wants to get involved instead of oppressing the whole public. this way, this does not go against the right of being heard. as well as being able to allow more players to be involved. To my knowledge, some players don't come for parliament because it can be very tiring. Hence I feel that my suggestions are pretty valid

DevinBrantley: Thank you mr speaker. i would like to acknowledge something on kevin's first option. you acknowledged by holding physical parliament less often and to allow most of everyone on discord to have a wider range of people to vote. i think it would be a somewhat viable option. But again, there are no guarantees those players are active. i liked the idea of physical parliament because as stated earlier, it takes quite a bit of effort at attend to. i feel that if you allow everyone to vote that would be destroyed. i feel that a version of this option that would be viable is to have much more things voted on at physical in those 1 month intervals.

The SPEAKER: seeing as time for this bill is up, could you keep it brief?

DevinBrantley: specifically those items that are more important that require people who put effort into being here, i think that more important things and things and more bills should be in physical parli

The SPEAKER: The Question is adding the senior mod rank, allow mods to promote citizens, and allow parliament on discord.

Question put to the House and agreed on.

Teleportation Bill

Debate:

The SPEAKER: onward to the third bill: on Teleportation, by mopsi. Does the proposer wish to speake?

The PRIME MINISTER: Yes. THank you Mr Speaker. The usage of the /tpa commands and who gets access to it has been discussed without end on Wolvhaven for many years. This government believes it should be the right of all citizens to use the /tpa command. This government believes a fee of $10 per teleportation request is a good base fee which can be adjusted in the future. Taking into account other planned reforms to the economy, including a general decrease in the total amount of money in the economy, we think that a fee lower than what was discussed last term will be better in the long term. This government believes that builders should be exempt from the teleportation fee as an alternative form of payment for their contribution to this server not only by building infrastructure but also by commenting and critiquing on other player's builds. This government believes this bill will be a great achievement for citizens rights and will allow for greater mobility throughout Wolvhaven.

PLankTheNoOB: Thank you Mr Speaker. a question to the proposer. who should be classified as builder and on what criteria?

The PRIME MINISTER: Thank you mr speaker. Is this an honest question? I have serious doubts that the member has read and fully understood the bill.

PLaNKTheNoOB: yes, why shouldn't it be?

The PRIME MINISTER: may I suggest to the member that he shall read the definitions section of the bill

DevinBrantley: tysms. i would like to ask something that may be considered. are you proposing that you pay the same amount despite if you are in pangaea or gardellia? the accessibility of getting around this fee varies and i feel that pricing may be changed in certain ways based on the world or area

The PRIME MINISTER: tyms. As was discussed without end in the tpa reform bill channel. it is not possible to implement variable fees. it is a flat fee. you have the fee for some players or you can exempt some players with a specific permission node

DevinBrantley: tyms. i understand that that problem is in the way of doing that. that still does not eliminate the problem. i fine this system therefore somewhat flawed or uneven

The PRIME MINISTER: tyms. there may be no solution to it. but this is as good it is gonna get so the question is: Does the member want to have tpa or does he not

The SPEAKER: anyone else? no responses? does mirai wish to speak?

Mirai50: No, honorable member disr0m

The SPEAKER: hence, this bill is now adjourned for the second reading

Teleportation Bill

- b. “Request” refers to the teleport request that is created as a result of the running of a tpa command.
- c. “Requester” refers to the player who runs a tpa command.
- d. “Staff” refers to players holding the rank Helper and above.
- e. “Builder” refers to players who hold the Architect or Engineer rank.
- f. “Tpa commands” refers to the /tpa and /tpahere commands.
- g. “Party teleport” refers to the MCMMO party teleportation feature.
- h. “PR Rank” refers to the proposed Permanent Resident rank.
- i. “Tpa cancel” refers to the /tpacancel command.

2. Tpa commands permissions

- a. Citizens shall be given access to the tpa commands.
- b. A fee of ten dollars shall be charged to the requester should their teleport request be accepted.
  - i. Staff and Builders are exempt from the fee.
  - ii. The fee may be changed at the discretion of the president at any time without notice.
  - iii. Who is exempt from the fee may be changed at the discretion of the president at any time without notice.
- c. All players shall have their access to the party teleport feature relinquished.
- d. Citizens shall be given access to tpa cancel.

3. Abuse of command

- a. Individuals who abuse the tpa command may be denied access to the command at the discretion of Staff.

4. Permanent Residents

- a. Should the PR Rank be implemented, permanent residents shall be allowed to accept and deny teleportation requests but not initiate them.

5. Extent

Overall Balance Tax Bill

Debate:

The SPEAKER: seeing as we have three bills remaining. the speaker calls for a five minute break for refreshments

The PRIME MINISTER: why? not needed

The SPEAKER: alright then. Continuing

The PRIME MINISTER thirsty bitch.I withdraw.

The SPEAKER: Overall Balance Tax Bill by mopsi. mopsi may speak first

The PRIME MINISTER tyms. Economic reform and a possible economy reset have been discussed without end on the Wolvhaven server for years. No proposed plan has ever been implemented leading to the Stagnation of the Wolvhaven economy and the loss of interest in the survival aspect of the server. This government believes that this phased implementation tax plan will work to level the economic playing field without requiring a hard reset.

The SPEAKER: that was quick. anyone replying?

The PRIME MINISTER: give some time to process

[The SPEAKER:: does anyone want to speak?

The PRIME MINISTER: nope

The SPEAKER alright, this bill is adjourned to the next session

Debate:

The SPEAKER: onward. Passive Income Adjustment Bill by mopsi. Shoot. just go

The PRIME MINISTER: tysms. In combination with other re-balancing in the economy, this government believes a reduction of passive income is necessary. This government believes it is crucial to reduce the amount of money being added to the economy to stop the rampant inflation currently happening. Players should not be paid large sums of money for doing nothing on the server.

The SPEAKER: anyone want to reply?

The PRIME MINISTER:: no? Alright. bill adjourned

Debate:

The SPEAKER: last one Admin Shops Prices Bill by mopsi. you know what to do

The PRIME MINISTER Thank you, Mr Speaker. This bill seeks to implement robust, standardized pricing to admin shops. Due to various resets and new plugins, there are many items which players can currently not purchase in Wolvhaven. This bill combined with the construction of admin shops will ensure that a shortage can not occur. Also, it gives us an alternative to jobs plugin.

The SPEAKER: alright any opinions on admin shops?
